

Item 16 Resolution Declaring Fairfax a Chemtrail-Free Zone

BACKGROUND: A typical chemtrail appears as a white line in the sky. These lines become diffuse as they float down to earth. Heavy spraying creates a thick haze over vast areas. Often, in certain areas of the country, you will see grid patterns in the sky formed by chemtrails. If you watch closely, you will see that these white lines in the sky come from passing jet airplanes. The fact that these exhausts persist means that they are of particulate matter. Contrails are unadulterated and typically disappear within 2 minutes while chemtrails linger for hours. The word 'chemtrail' is derived from the word 'contrail.'
